

The joy of life at St Luke's Green

TUCKED away at the far end of Taylor Street in Woolloongabba stands something truly beautiful that's rarely seen, but always treasured.

St Luke's Church, a bastion of mission-style architecture is an enduring reminder of the true value in community, as the world whirls on.

After nearly 80 years in service to the Catholic community, change was in the air. In the aftermath of an immense hailstorm, the church earned a remarkable restoration that took more than 30 months.

It was a chance to realise one of the parish's grandest plans ever – four brand-new buildings in the grounds to provide for the community's growing retirement and aged-care needs, called St Luke's Green.

Working in collaboration with Greengate, Australia's most experienced provider of Boutique Living and Caring, it's no surprise that the village was awarded the Property Council of Australia's National Award for Design and Excellence.

It's rare that a retirement village is located in such a perfect location.

At St Luke's Green, you can have a modern retirement apartment that's minutes from the CBD, with the area's eateries, historic pubs, galleries, movies, antiques and boutiques and the Gabba just a potter away from home.

Brisbane's best hospital and medical facilities, major shopping centres, train and bus networks are nearby, not to mention on-site aged care should you ever need it.

St Luke's Green features a beautifully landscaped village green, with secluded alfresco seating and barbecue facilities.

Residents enjoy an amazing array of amenities and spaces that encourage interaction and get-togethers.

So Paul, the resident chef who helps pave the way to better well-being through fresh produce and fabulously nutritious meals, says.

Right now, there are just a handful of the stunning apartments remaining, including the very popular low-maintenance one-bedroom apartment and the two-bed, two-bath residence, both north-facing, with generous balconies and an extra study.

You'll be hard pressed to find such a fantastic retirement life in the heart of Woolloongabba.

All in all, St Luke's Green is a real joy for residents.
